

TRANSPORTATION & LOGISTICS

Moran Reeves Conn serves as local, regional, and national counsel to companies in both motor carrier and product liability cases. Our complex transportation and logistics litigation experience includes catastrophic personal injury wrongful death claims, freight and property claims, regulatory compliance, and labor/employment matters.

We represent commercial carriers, interstate trucking companies, in-state haulers, self-insured trucking companies, truck leasing companies, motor coach businesses, hazardous material transporters, rideshare companies, insurers, and drivers. Our transportation clients range from nationwide fleets to individual owner/operators.

Our attorneys know that personal injury suits involving tractor trailers present unique challenges. We understand that the ability to confront accidents at the scene, and quickly, is crucial to preserving evidence for a strong defense. We maintain a rapid response team that can coordinate the investigation of any catastrophic or fatal accident. Further, we have the necessary contacts with experts in the fields of accident reconstruction, toxicology, medicine, and governmental oversight that are important in these cases.

Today's trucking cases require knowledge of negligence, tort reform statutes, Federal Motor Carrier safety regulations, hours of service issues, and many other facets of the trucking industry. We are frequent speakers at seminars and regularly publish articles in legal and professional journals.

Our attorneys are members of the Trucking Industry Defense Association, the Defense Research Institute and its Trucking Committee, the Virginia Association of Defense Attorneys, and the American Bar Association.

Outside of litigation, we counsel our transportation clients in areas such as regulatory compliance, risk management, and best practices.

REPRESENTATIVE CASES

Defended both domestic and international tire companies in catastrophic injury litigation.

Defended major semi-truck manufacturers in large fleet product performance disputes.

Defended RV chassis manufacturers in fire and product warranty disputes.